

Here is an image with a crudely hand drawn Signal Line. Signal line can be any of the common moving averages. Simple moving average will suffice, I prefer Linear Weighted Moving Average. The Signal period would be the difference between the short and long periods of AO. With the common default of AO being short 5 and long 35, difference of the two being 30, Signal period should be set to 15. Signal line assists the AO by differentiating what kind of slope change we are experiencing ...1) Top/Bottom of Major/Minor Trend 2.) Gaps = heavy price movement 3.) Divergence Thanks!

Its a huge delay if you look at daily chart . Basically delay for one day and you entering in one day later of uptrend.

Can you add the word Accelerator somewhere so it will be easier to search for? Thanks for creating this. :)
